LIMA HOSPITAL IS CHOSEN

Sentence Will be Started Either Saturday or Monday

William H. Mohler, 78, confessed slayer of Mrs. Katherine Mohler, 68, will enter Lima state hospital for criminal insane as an inmate late Saturday or Monday.

Mohler was brought into court Saturday noon and committed to the institution in accordance with a verdict of the jury finding him to be insane.

He sat quietly and almost motionless and without expression while Judge Fred C. Becker, read the finding. The order of the court was as follows:

The jury having returned a verdict that the accused is not sane, he is ordered committed to Lima state hospital until such time as his sanity is restored.

Immediately following the commitment Mohler was led from the courtroom by Sheriff Crosson.

What does he mean? he asked. Whether Mohler does not understand what it is all about or is pleading ignorance cannot be determined, officials say.

During the time he was in court he sat with his hands clasped.

Warm Sun Does Its Best to Counteract Effect of Harsh Wind

Slight prospect for relief from the high wind and low temperature was in sight Saturday as the weather department predicted colder weather during the day and night.

Early morning temperature of eight degrees below zero was registered at the Solar refinery and indications were that it would be still colder Saturday night.

Reports carried by the Associated Press showed that the whole state is in the grip of the third cold wave of the winter and that the temperature of the whole state is either at or below zero.

Three deaths thruout the state are said to have been caused indirectly by the cold weather. John Marx, 48 and James H. Lee, both of Cleveland, were found dead due to overexertion while walking against the high wind and snow storm.

Federal Judge Killits who is trying the case adjourned the session last night until Tuesday morning.

ARCHIE ROOSEVELT RECALLED

Son of Former President to be Quizzed Again

WASHINGTON — (Associated Press)—With President Coolidge ready to initiate any civil or criminal proceedings shown to be warranted in connection with the leasing of naval oil reserve lands, Archie Roosevelt and G. D. Wahlberg, former secretary to Harry S. Sinclair, whose testimony Monday began a week of sensational developments in the senate public lands committee's inquiry, were recalled today for further examination.

Roosevelt asserted Monday that Wahlberg had told him he had seen cancelled checks of the Hyva Corporation—a Sinclair concern—for $488,000 made payable to Thomas Johnson, foreman of the New Mexico ranch of Albert B. Fall, who as secretary of the interior, was in charge of the leasing of the reserves. Wahlberg denied this part of Roosevelt's testimony, saying he had been misunderstood when he mentioned the sending of six or eight head of cattle to

FUMES HALT RESCUE WORK

Teams Delayed Ten Hours in Reaching Entombed Men

JOHNSTON CITY, Ill. — (Associated Press) — Thirty seven miners were killed, six probably fatally burned and eight others seriously scathed in an unexplained explosion late yesterday on the main level of the McClintock coal mine here operated by the Crerar Clinch Coal Co.

Approximately 60 of the 375 miners at work were entombed in the lower levels of the mine, but a few of them escaped.

A number of the bodies brought to the surface last night and early today were burned beyond recognition and attempts to identify the dead were unavailing, mine officials giving up the attempt until a full check of the forces could be obtained.

Company officials declined last night to make a statement regarding the possible cause of the disaster but announced that a thorough investigation would be made today. The mine had been considered unusually safe, inso far as gas explosions were concerned.

HUNDREDS of men volunteered to brave the poisonous gases of the inner recesses after four Johnson City physicians had announced their intention to go down in an attempt to rescue, but were driven back by the fumes which poured from the main shaft with such density that the faces of bystanders literally were blackened. The volunteers had to wait the arrival of gas masks.

JAPS CELEBRATE ROYAL WEDDING

Princess Nagako Becomes Bride of the Prince Regent

WITNESSED BY 122 SPIRITS

Ceremony Held in Accordance With Ancient Ritual

TOKIO.—(Associated Press)—In the sacred precincts of the Imperial Palace and in accordance with the ancient marriage ritual antedating the Christ era, Prince Regent Hirohito was wedded this morning to Princess Nagako, eldest daughter of Prince Kuni.

Residents of Tokio indulged in joyous celebration of the event, but first public expression of joy since the disaster of last September.

The wedding was celebrated with a series of events, the first of which was an announcement of the event of the Imperial marriage which was enshrined in the Imperial Household Agency. The ceremony was held in the Imperial Household Agency, where the bride and groom were seated on a raised platform, facing each other. The bride wore a white kimono with a red sash, and the groom wore a dark kimono with a white sash. They were surrounded by a large number of guests, including members of the Imperial family and high-ranking officials. The ceremony was conducted in accordance with ancient Japanese rituals, and was witnessed by 122 spirits.

Previously, as in the case of accession to the throne, the party for two hours went through a slow movement toward the shrine, every step in which, including the sounding of the gongs, was according to the ancient wedding law.

No foreigners witnessed the ceremony.

The garb of the regent was the simple dress of a Japanese gentleman for such occasions.

The bride's costume was elaborate. The chief garment was a dazzling kimono of scarlet and purple, with the chrysanthemum crest in white embroidered on it.

The skirt was another piece of artistic weaving, being of white silk, handsomely embroidered. The outer dress was of purple silk decorated with designs of pine trees and tortoises, symbols of long life.

Accompanying the regent were the scepter and crown. The ceremony was comparatively simple. The official public celebration had been postponed until later in the year owing to the country's mourning.

Tremendous crowds greeted the prince and his bride as they passed to and from the palace before and after the ceremony.

VICTORY HIGHWAY'S LAST LINK TO BE CONSTRUCTED

SAN FRANCISCO.—The Victory highway, an unbroken route between New York and San Francisco, will be completed some time this year, according to an announcement by the California State Automobile association.

The principal barrier, a detour that balked many tourists, was in western Utah, and the Utah highway commission has just signed contracts for the removal of this by the construction of the last link in the Wendover cut-off, which will be ready by the opening of the 1924 tourist season. The Utah-Vermont-California highway association arranged the financing of the Wendover cut-off in cooperation with the California Automobile association.

The cut-off is about 40 miles long, and 617 miles of it is a difficult piece of construction thru a salt marsh. Grading of the marsh in preparation for the highway virtually is completed.

The organizations interested raised $50,000 to assist the State of Utah, which also was able to procure substantial aid from the federal government. The California Automobile association previously had legged the Victory highway as far east as Kansas City with its yellow-diamond markers.

Various organizations immediately began efforts to alleviate the suffering among the miners' families.

Rescue work was impeded by darkness, cold and gases issuing from the mine and it was more than ten hours after the explosion before rescue teams could penetrate to the passages where the blast created its chief havoc.

Dead men were found strewn about while others, helpless from injuries or dazed by their experience, were unable to crawl from the spots where they had fallen.

Fifteen men were brought from the mine with barely a stitch of clothing upon them and with the hair singed from their heads, but, excepting for the burns, otherwise virtually unharmed.

land, was killed when the sled on which she was coasting crashed into an iron railing.

Reports reaching W. H. Alexander, director of the United States weather bureau in Ohio, indicate that this is the coldest January since 1917.

He believes the temperature will fall to below zero Saturday night but that the break will come Sunday and by Monday will be 15 degrees above zero.

So extreme was the cold and the blizzard along the lakes it was necessary for the government mail plane to abandon its Chicago-New York flight at Ashtabula. The mail was forwarded to New York by train.

A warm sun did its best Saturday to warm the earth but the wind kept the temperature from rising to any great extent. Few persons were on the streets until late in the morning and shopping was delayed until the afternoon.

Roads throughout the country are in fair condition, highway officials reported. Some of the roads were considerably cut up during the slight thaw some weeks ago and are quite rough but the hard surface roads are in excellent condition, they say.

the foreman. He also denied knowledge of any money passing between Sinclair and Fall, but said he had regarded the transfer of a large block of Sinclair corporation stock and $25,000 in liberty bonds to J. W. Zevely, Sinclair's personal counsel, as being in some respects "suspicious."

LOANS TO FALL

Subsequently, the committee learned from E. L. Doheny, California oil magnate, that he had loaned Fall $100,000 on his personal note in 1921, about a year before he obtained a lease on a naval reserve in California, and Zevely some time previously had been awarded the Federal Dome lease, had loaned Fall $25,000 in liberty bonds three months after his resignation from the cabinet.

Zevely said he held the former secretary's note for the amount of the Sinclair loan, the bonds having been made subject to his order for the purpose, but that Sinclair himself had no such document covering the transaction.

Fall is in seclusion under the care of a physician in Zevely's home here, waiting to testify Monday with reference to these and other aspects of his financial affairs, and the committee decided to attempt meanwhile to clear up the question of the alleged checks for $68,000 by further examination of Roosevelt and Walbridge, both of whom said last Monday they had resigned from the employment of Sinclair.

Evidence already adduced at the hearing, which has been attended since the beginning of the week by Assistant Attorney General Holland as the personal representative of Attorney General Daugherty, is regarded by President Coolidge as pointing to criminal action and it was made clear after yesterday's cabinet meeting, at which the situation was discussed, that annulment of oil leases involved would be sought if convincing evidence of fraud should be revealed.

The President has no intention, it was emphasized, to jump at conclusions, but he is determined that the interests of the government shall be protected and that any persons guilty of wrongdoing shall be punished.

LEGION IS AFTER NEW MEMBERS

House to House Canvas is Proposed in Expansion Campaign

A house to house canvas to recruit new members for the American Legion from among the former service men of Lima was launched at a meeting of William Paul Gallagher, Postmaster, Friday night.

Captains were appointed for each ward in the city, and they will name two or three men in each and every precinct to aid in the canvas.

A complete record of the name and address, occupation, service or organization of each man will be made during the canvas, which will be partly in the nature of a census.

The team captains are Dr. Ed Sinks, Bow Shaw, Frank Callahan, Morris Conner, Walter Gerstenlauer and Neil R. Poling.

Tom Pearman, secretary of the M. C. A., gave a short talk before the post, on organization, in which he lauded the ideals of the Legion, and its efforts in behalf of all service men.

SUSIE SMART'S ADVICE

Dear Miss Smart: I think it is all right for a girl of 13 to call up a boy and make a date with him. The boys seem willing to make a date if we call them up.

I am the only girl in my bunch who objects to kissing and such actions. Therefore the boys don't seem to like to go with me. I like to go with the boys but how can I get a boy friend, if I object to kissing?

Thanking you I am

EVELYN.

O. do not call boys up over the telephone. It is extremely bad taste and boys should refuse to talk to silly girls who call them up.

Don't think that there are 10 other boys in the world except those foolish young things who like the "petting parties" and such, which you speak of. Boys respect girls of your character and don't think you are not popular because of your sentiments concerning kissing. You have plenty of time to go out with the boys and I'm sure your supposed "unpopularity" will not last long.

Dear Miss Smart: I want to answer the following questions:

What would you think if one of your girl friends, behind your back, would write your name in public saying you are crazy about such and such a boy?

Should a girl of 14 accept a gift from a boy?

What colors and kinds of material will be worn in spring?

Is it proper for a girl to send a boy a letter?

How is my writing?

I'd pay no attention to her and cease counting her as one of my friends. It is so silly of people to do things that are as little worth while as that. Ignore the girl and her act of foolishness.

No.

Tans, blues and greys will be popular this spring and the suits and dresses will be of poret (will, flannel or wool crepe).

No, there is nothing improper in the exchange of Valentines between boys and girls. There would be very little celebration of the day if it were not for the young people.

Good.

Dear Miss Susie: Will you kindly print the cause and also the remedy for white spots on the finer nails? Mine are not white with them and they never disappear.

TROUBLED.

These blemishes are said to be caused by blows on the base of the nail while it is in process of formation. They will not disappear until the portion of nail thus injured grows out and is filed off.

Prevention is the only means of dealing with these spots. Protect the nails from rough usage.

GERMANS SPEND EVENINGS ON CARS TO SAVE COST OF HEATING THEIR RESIDENCES

BERLIN.—Since cold weather came in with a blast many Berliners have found it much cheaper to ride back and forth in the suburban trains than to sit at home in the evening. Holders of monthly tickets may ride as often as they care to on the government owned steam lines which run all about the city.

Officials attribute the increased night travel of late to the fact that many men and women find coal and gas or electricity too expensive these days and spend the evenings comfortably in heated, well lighted cars reading their favorite books.

30 OUSTED FROM POLICE FORCE

Philadelphia Safety Director Swings Official Axe

PHILADELPHIA.—(Associated Press)—Swinging his official axe vigorously in the midst of his third 48-hour drive against vice, Brig-General Butler, director of public safety, last night ordered drastic changes in his department, after having suspended thirty policemen at the beginning of the drive and abolishing the entire district detective force of 109 men. The detectives were detailed to patrol duty. Three of those suspended were sergeants. Three other sergeants were promoted to lieutenants. Negligence and lack of co-operation was given as the reason for the suspensions.

Changes effective today included an exchange of central city station houses for four lieutenants, and their forces of 400 policemen. "We are trying a fresh crowd" was the director's comment as he announced the changes. "There isn't going to be any more fooling."

Director Butler said that some of the detectives ordered back to patrol duty had been the "takers and collectors" of their districts. "They have been the go-betweens for political trickery of the kind not tolerated under this administration," he declared.

Shortly before leaving for home at three a. m., the General, for the first time since starting his cleanup campaign, personally participated in a raid. As he and his men emerged from a police station, they saw two negroes fighting on the steps of a house nearby. Calling for reserves, General Butler advanced on the house where he found about twenty negro men and women involved in a fight. All were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Mary Roberts Rinehart was an interested spectator.

A total of more than 500 arrests had been made up to 3 a. m. today.

Betrothal In Infancy Defied By Chinese Girl

PEKING.—(Associated Press.)—Miss Chiang chin-yin, a high school girl of 18 years, has rebelled against an ages old Chinese custom. By means of an advertisement in certain Chinese papers, she recently notified all concerned that she refused to recognize a betrothal agreement made by her parents with the father of a young man, Hsiung Pauchi.

Miss Chiang, in her unprecedented announcement, declares that since the matrimonial agreement was made during her infancy she never will indorse it, but will consider it of no effect.

Her defiance of parental authority is regarded as an indication of the development of a new spirit in Chinese women, which eventually may result in modification of the present custom of infant betrothal.

PETRIFIED BUNK

WHAT do you know about Diogenes? Chiefly that he went about with a lantern, looking for an honest man. All this is historical bunk, of course, for Diogenes didn't need to look far. Around him were more honest men than crooks. Same as today. Nine are honest where one is dishonest.

The truth is Diogenes was a counterfeiter, a fugitive from justice. He was the son of an ancient money-changer or banker at Sinope. Both he and his father were expelled from the home community for "adulterating the coinage."

Diogenes escaped to Athens, where he lived in a tub at the Temple of Cybele. Being a crook at heart, he naturally imagined all other people were crooks.

He joined the Cynics, a sect of Greek philosophers founded by Socrates. Cynic means dog-like, snarling. Being a cynic, he went about with a lantern, sarcastically seeking "an honest man."

History is a very incomplete record. To its credit, tho, it does tend—with a multitude of exceptions—to preserve a record of the good things, and make people forget the bad.

LONG, LONG AGO

NIGHT-RIDERS, attention: Tarring-and-feathering was invented by Richard Coeur-de-Lion, King of England, about 760 years ago. He ordered that any sailor convicted of theft should "have his head clipped and hot pitch poured upon his pate, and upon that the feathers of some pillow or cushion shaken aloft."

You use the expression, "That's a feather in his cap." Do you know what that means? Some 500 years ago, the Hungarians had a custom by which a man couldn't wear a feather in his cap unless he had killed a Turk. A feather for every Turk, like notches on a gun.

In 1791 French slangsters coined an expression, "What will the frogs say to this?" Spread like wildfire, the public applying it to all ridiculous or absurd proposals. That's the origin of calling the French "Frogs."

In olden times, when a man lost his right arm in battle he was so incapacitated that he had to have a servant accompany him to take the place of the lost hand. This originated the saying, "He's my right-hand man."

Heels were put on shoes to prevent a horseman's foot slipping in the stirrup. Buttons on the coat cuff date back to Frederick the Great, who put sharp buttons there to stop soldiers using their cuffs as handkerchiefs. The wedding ring originally symbolized a chain.

So it goes. Thousands of the things we use and things we say and do are remnants of a long-forgotten past. Habit keeps them alive, even tho their real meaning is as obscure as their origin.

POISON BOOZE

WHISKY, supplied to bootleggers by the "rum fleet" lurking near New York harbor, has become so impure that confiscated bottles hereafter will not be sold to hospitals. This is announced by United States District Attorney William Hayward.

Formerly there was much good liquor, the real stuff from Scotland. After analysis, Uncle Sam sold the best to hospitals. Now it's a rare quart that analyzes pure. Hayward says the rum ships are "floating chemical laboratories to adulterate good liquor or produce synthetic whisky."

SUGAR CONSUMPTION LOWER

PEOPLE are using less sugar. Willett & Gray, sugar trade authorities, announce that less than 96 pounds of sugar was sold last year for every man, woman and child. This is eight pounds less than the year before, and only 11 pounds more than in years before the war.

The most logical explanation is that people are making less wine in the cellar. Candy eating continues big. Sugar is a twin brother of alcohol. There are plenty of "candy drunkards."

BRYAN'S WEEKLY BIBLE TALK

What Israel Learned at Sinai

Text of Today's Bible Talk by Mr. Bryan (Deuteronomy 4:32-40)

For ask now of the days that are past, which were before thee, since the day that God created man upon the earth, and ask from the one side of heaven unto the other, whether there hath been any such thing as this great thing is, or hath been heard like it?

Did ever people hear the voice of God speaking out of the midst of the fire, as thou hast heard, and live?

Or hath God essayed to go and take him a nation from the midst of another nation, by temptations, by signs, and by wonders, and by war, and by a mighty hand, and by a stretched out arm, and by great terrors, according to all that the Lord your God did for you in Egypt before your eyes?

Unto thee it was shewed, that thou mightest know that the Lord he is God; there is none else beside him.

Out of heaven he made thee to hear his voice, that he might instruct thee; and upon earth he shewed thee his great fire; and thou heardest his words out of the midst of the fire.

And because he loved thy fathers, therefore he chose their seed after them, and brought thee out in his sight with his mighty power out of Egypt.

To drive out nations from before thee greater and mightier than thou art, to bring thee in, to give thee their land for an inheritance, as it is this day.

Know therefore this day, and consider it in thine heart, that the Lord he is God in heaven above, and upon the earth beneath: there is none else.

Thou shalt keep therefore his statutes, and his commandments, which I commanded thee this day, that it may go well with thee, and with thy children after thee, and that thou mayest prolong thy days upon the earth.

Which the Lord thy God giveth thee, forever.

THE UNIVERSAL RELATIONSHIP

It is not so much between those who desire to have the day observed as it is between those who do not.

It is not so much between those who do not desire a rest day; it is between those on one side who are laboring disinterestedly for the public welfare and those on the other side, who seek to convert the Sabbath day into a day for money making.

Just as the huge question resolved itself into a fight between the defenders of the home and those who profited by the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

Honor thy Father and thy Mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

The fifth commandment deals with the universal relationship, namely, between parent and child, and inculcates that respect for authority which is not only essential to the home but necessary also as the basis of good citizenship.

The home is called the unit of society; it is not only the nursery of the child and the custodian of personal virtue, but it is the training school for those broader relationships into which the adult enters with his fellow men and with the inhabitants of other nations.

Honor of father and mother is enjoined; it is vital to both parent and child and is the proper return for the affectionate and sacrificing service that the child receives.

Paul speaks of the fifth as "the first commandment with promise," the previous ones being explicit injunctions unaccompanied by the suggestion of reward. Obedience to the law of God is a duty, it requires length of days, as can be proven by those who obey as well as by those who observe the commandment. The latter avail themselves of the wisdom of an older generation, while the former suffer the punishment that folly brings upon them.

A SELF EVIDENT TRUTH

The last five commandments relate to man's duty to his fellow men; they guard the inalienable social rights of the individual.

"Thou Shalt Not Kill." Here God puts into four words a commandment that modern lawyers have extended into books and that, torn at the expense of both strength and clearness, it will be noticed that no arguments accompany this pronouncement; it is self-evident truth and needs only to be stated.

There never has been a day since it was written that it was not needed. It is needed today with all our enlightenment. There is a shocking disregard for the value of human life that calls for a remedy. Life, that mysterious thing—intangible, invisible, and yet eternal—which man can take but cannot restore, is held in contempt above the world, even in our own beloved land.

The daily dispatches tell of the constant taking of human life, sometimes as the result of a quarrel over trifling matters, sometimes for hire, sometimes in an effort to commit a crime much less heinous, sometimes to cover up a crime already committed, sometimes as the result of disappointment in love or friendship, sometimes it is self destruction as the result of mortification or despair. But whatever the cause, it ushers a human being into eternity.

Individual killings, however, are few compared with the wholesale slaughters upon the battlefield, due largely to avarice and ambition. All the commandments that come before the sixth—when obeyed—fortify man against the violation of this one which places an immeasurable value upon the vital spark which is known as life.

GUARDING THE HOME

"Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery."

The seventh commandment guards the integrity of the home by putting a ban upon the one act that violates its sanctity.

If I mistake not the signs of the times, the inviolability of the home is the next great subject to receive the attention of those who seek to improve the condition of society.

We punish the thief who takes valuables from the home in the day time and the burglar who robs the home of money or merchandise at night, but there is not sufficient protection of the virtue that is the precious jewel of the home.

The abolition of the saloon and the enfranchisement of woman coming at the same time, make it possible to secure for the safeguarding of the home legislation that was impossible before. The time is ripe for the awakening of an increased respect for the seventh commandment.

"Thou Shalt Not Steal."

The eighth commandment is a recognition of the right of property, a sacred right of home, and only third in importance to the right to life.

No emphasis need be placed upon the criminality involved in stealing upon a small scale; this is universally condemned; but there is a tendency to decrease the severity of the condemnation as the amount stolen increases. Petty larceny defines the small stealing that no one defends; grand larceny describes the large robbery that is more difficult to punish, while the word "glorious" is the only term that seems to fittingly describe the pillage that nations sometime engage in against other nations.

It is well to remember that the Lord did not draw any fine spun distinctions upon the amount taken or the number who join in the theft. "Thou shalt not steal" is no respecter of persons; the moral principle which it announces cannot be overwhelmed by a crowd or by the amount involved.

THE CRIME OF TALK BEARING

"Thou Shalt Not Bear False Witness Against Thy Neighbor." The ninth commandment guards the citadel of character.

Back in the days of the great law giver, the right to a good name was associated with the right to own property. It comes next to this right in its place among the ten and is associated with the commandments that protect life and the home.

While it may be more difficult to calculate the injury done by slander or libel than the injury done by one who steals, the act is just as reprehensible and needs as much to be enjoined. Possibly the most offensive form which false witnessing takes today is tale-bearing—the more dishonorable because it is least subject to punishment.

One who makes an open attack upon another, risking the penalties of the law, has at least the merit of courage which those cannot claim who circulate whispered calumnies that cannot be reached by the courts.

Shakespeare says: "Who steals my purse steals trash; 'tis nothing, 'tis mine, and has been slave to thousands; But he that filches from me my good name, Robs me of that which not enriches him, And makes me poor indeed."

YANKEE ATHLETES WIN SKATING RACES AT CHAMONIX

Scholastic Caging Game Is Disappointment For Local Enthusiasts; Visitors Win

Bluffton's Experienced Cagers Found South Hi Easy; Winning 20 To 14

Bluffton Hi proved too much for South Hi's cage five at South gym Friday night, defeating the local team 20-14. It was the fourth straight setback for South.

Bluffton started out strong and piled up ten points in the first few minutes before South started scoring. Then Thomas, South right forward, put in two from the free throw line and the scoring for the first quarter stopped. In the second period Bowers and Thomas dumped in a fielder apiece and free throws by Bowers and Throckmorton ran South's total to eight. Bluffton in the meantime ran her total to fifteen, and the half ended there.

Pogue's free throw in the third quarter was the only point scored by Bluffton, while Thomas scored in a basket from the field and Bowers added two more points with free throws, making the count 14-12 in Bluffton's favor. Bowers made more points in the last period via the free-throw route and Bluffton made four more, the final score being 20-14 with South on the short end.

It was simply a case of experience versus inexperience. Bluffton had plenty of the former as the whole team has played varsity basketball before. South on the other hand, had only its one man, Captain Early, who has had one year of high school experience.

To show Bluffton's superiority over the Lima team one need only point to the fact that the visiting five made seven field goals to South's three. Eight of South's fifteen points were made on free throws, while only six of Bluffton's twenty were made from the fifteen-foot line.

Kibelo, Bluffton's rangy center, was easily the star of the game. He not only scored three field goals, but he also played well in all other departments of the game. He kept the ball in his team's possession for the majority of the game by getting the push from Throckmorton, who was at the pivot position for South. Members of the Central Hi team, who South plays on the Central gym floor Friday, saw the game.

HARGRAVE AND DUNCAN SIGN UP

Catcher Hargrave and outfielder Duncan, two of the three players who declared themselves for substantial increases in salary having signed contracts, the Cincinnati Nationals will devote attention to the bringing of Ed Roush into the fold. Talk of a three year contract at a figure considerably higher than that heretofore offered the star outfielder, is being heard among local fans.

ADA HI PLAYS SIDNEY OFF ITS FEET

SIDNEY, Ohio—(Special to The Lima News)—Ada Hi's fast basketball five took a 17-5 victory from Sidney here Friday night. Sidney scored but one field goal during the game, while Ada scored eight. A small floor and low ceiling prevented either team from making anything resembling a long shot.

Ada plays Kenton there next Friday night and on the following evening Bucyrus will journey to Ada. Kenton was defeated by Ada 25-15 last week, but on the Kenton floor things may prove different for the Ada outfit.
